Considerations

This document provides a template to prepare a Local Jobs First Local Industry Development Plan (LIDP).

While working on this document, bidders are encouraged to consult with the Industry Capability Network (ICN) Victoria. Please allow enough time for ICN to assist you. ICN can be contacted on (03) 9864 6700 or at info@icnvic.org.au. The Local Jobs First Supplier Guidelines document has more details on this process.

Your responses contained in this LIDP will inform the procuring agency’s assessment of your tender in relation to the 20 per cent weighting (10 per cent for industry development and 10 per cent for job outcomes) applicable to Local Jobs First projects.

Please note, for your LIDP to receive an ICN Acknowledgement Letter, all fields of this document and all cells in the tables must be completed. If you have no information to give, please note N/A or 0, as applicable.

3. Local Content Commitment
Local Jobs First Criteria	Strategic Project Requirements	Commitment
ANZ Value-Added Activity Local content (or ANZ value added activity) = the total cost of a product or service without the imported content.	The bidder shall demonstrate its ability to deliver the following requirements set by the Minister for Jobs, Innovation and Trade:	In the field below, outline your ANZ Value-Added Activity commitment:
	1. % minimum local content 2. % of MPSG deemed labour hours	1. % minimum local content 2. % of estimated labour hours

4. Employment Commitment

A primary objective of the Local Jobs First Policy is to promote employment and business growth by providing opportunities for local businesses. Agencies must consider the jobs outcomes of bids when awarding a contract. For more information on this process, refer to the Local Jobs First Supplier Guidelines.

Calculate the number of retained and/or new jobs to be created in Australia and/or New Zealand during the life of this project. This number covers both your company and those from your supply chain, if you are using a supply chain.

A retained job means a job (one Annual Employee Equivalent) that has been working for a supplier or subcontractor before signing a project contract, working in tasks/works related to the project. This may also be referred to as an existing employee.

A new job means a job (one Annual Employee Equivalent) that has been specifically employed by a supplier or subcontractors, because of the work generated by a specific project.

Note: Annual Employee Equivalent (AEE) is used in place of Full Time Equivalence (FTE). Created/retained numbers must be provided in AEE.

Annualised Employee Equivalent is calculated by dividing the total paid hours of the contract by 1,976. 1,976 reflects the total full-time working hours paid yearly to a full-time employee (38 hours per week for 52 weeks).

Note: The table includes a breakdown of apprentices, trainees and standard jobs created or retained workhours, however the Total Workhours is calculated on the Total cells only.

The following sections outlines your jobs outcomes commitments to this project.

- Created and Retained jobs – head contractor refers to the jobs to be either created or retained in your company.
- Created or retained – supply chain refers to jobs created or retained in the companies you are engaging in your supply chain if you are using one. You will need to contact your supply chain to confirm these details with them.

Note that agencies will not give a higher weighting for more created or retained jobs – they will be considered equal.

Implementation Plan

The following sections outlines how you will use local products, services and skills to meet the commitments. Please outline the way you will identify, assess and select local products, services and skills to meet the commitments stated in this LIDP, and how you will monitor these commitments. Note your responses should reflect the size and complexity of the project you are bidding for. For example, if the project is a straightforward maintenance or construction, the ICN will not require as much information as for a large-scale, publicly announced project.

5. Identifying and selecting local products and skills

5.1 Consultation Process

Many of the products and skills required to complete this project may be available locally. If applicable, please say how you will work with local companies to identify local products, services and skills to minimise the use of

5.4 Alerting local designers (if applicable)

Have you drafted the specification in a way that preferences local design engineers and architects? If so, how?

6. Process for assessing local and value-added content

6.1 Process for assessment

Please explain how you will determine what is local and what is not in your selection of products and services to undertake this project, and how you will prioritise the selection of local products and services.

Bidders should demonstrate how they will assess the local value-added content in a product or service they will provide into the project and ensure they are given preference over imported goods, products and services. This could include a checklist to assess local content in a product or service. Bidders should instruct subcontractors to consider local products and services, and how they may go about doing so.

6.2 Benchmarking

Where engaging a supply chain, bidders should develop benchmarks evaluating proposals. This benchmarking should be based on “whole-of-life” cost parameters, appropriate quality, and performance. This may include the application of the principles of Local Jobs First in their procurement process and setting a benchmark of a nominal percentage point for local value-added activities. This could be expressed in the form of a Local Jobs First declaration agreed upon between the subcontractor and the bidder before the project starts. Bidders may seek assistance from ICN on this benchmarking process.

If applicable, please outline your benchmarking process.

7. Local Jobs First Monitoring and Reporting

A main component of the LJF is ongoing monitoring and reporting on outcomes achieved throughout project delivery.

Different project scales have different reporting requirements. Projects with a total project value of $20 million or over must use ICN Analytics and are required to report half-yearly to the procuring agency, who in turn report to the Department of Jobs, Precincts and Regions.

The tender will provide details on any other monitoring and reporting expected by the agency.

The Local Jobs First Commitments Monitoring Table (at a minimum) or ICN Analytics are used to demonstrate the LIDP commitments achieved. The monitoring table and a signed Statutory Declaration must be completed by or at practical completion of the project and/or delivery of the goods or services. They must demonstrate that Local Jobs First outcomes have been achieved. Additional comments may need to be given to explain any differences between the expected outcomes from the agreed LIDP and those reported in the monitoring table. The Agency contract manager will request this table and give it to ICN and the DJPR Office of Industry Participation and Jobs for verification.

The Local Jobs First Commissioner may also request this information be provided to them, as part of their compliance powers under the Local Jobs First Act 2003.

Please let us know the ways you will monitor and report on this contract:

- Local Jobs First Monitoring Table (mandatory)
- ICN Analytics (mandatory for projects over $20 million)
- Develop Reporting templates to be issued to subcontractors for Evaluation and performance reporting
- Regular reviews of reporting on outcomes
- Use of reporting systems such as Microsoft Excel
- Working document outlining products used and local content committed
- Other (please specify)
